

Kenneth J. Brislin M.D.

Dr. Brislin grew up in Allentown with a close association to the medical field. His father has practiced internal medicine in the Lehigh Valley for more than 30 years and he has more than a dozen physicians in his family. His commitment to athletics in high school and college along with his desire to pursue a career in medicine made orthopaedic surgery the obvious choice.

A long-distance runner and former rower, Dr. Brislin understands how devastating injuries can be to athletes. His practice is dedicated to helping patients and athletes return to peak performance as quickly and safely as possible. He focuses on arthroscopic and joint reconstruction procedures of the shoulder and elbow. He also performs arthroscopic procedures of the knee.

Dr. Brislin graduated from Emmaus High School and obtained his medical degree at Temple University School of Medicine. He then completed fellowship training at the Mississippi Sports Medicine and Orthopaedic Center. Dr. Brislin is an associate Masters Instructor for the Arthroscopy Association of North America. He has written several articles regarding arthroscopic shoulder procedures, and has spoken nationally about shoulder arthroscopy. He continues to be active in educating medical residents, medical students, physician assistants (PAs), and physician assistant students.
