

Dr. Jay V. Kalawadia, M.D.

Specialty: Orthopaedic Surgery – Elbow, Arm, Knee, Shoulder, Hip

Dr. Kalawadia is fellowship trained in sports medicine. Before joining Surgery Center of Allentown, he served as the team physician for area high schools, the University of Pittsburgh Panthers and the Duquesne University Dukes. He also provided medical coverage for the Pittsburgh Steelers as well as the NCAA's Big Ten and ACC tournaments. He was initially drawn to the specialty of orthopaedics because the surgical outcomes are very rewarding for the patients.

Dr. Kalawadia specializes in arthroscopy and other minimally invasive surgical techniques that are constantly changing and improving for the benefit of the patient. He commonly treats those with various hip, knee and shoulder complications through conservative, non-surgical treatment options and when necessary, surgical intervention. He finds great satisfaction in working with a patient population that is motivated to get back to the activities they enjoy.

Originally from North Wales, Pennsylvania, Dr. Kalawadia attended Northwestern University's Feinberg School of Medicine and completed his orthopaedic surgery residency there as well. He then completed a sports medicine fellowship at University of Pittsburgh, training in hip arthroscopy and cartilage restoration with biologics, two of the newest fields in orthopaedics. He is board certified in orthopaedic surgery and maintains a variety of memberships in related professional organizations.
